

BLAKE HASTIE-ETCHISON

Albany Pine Bush Preserve Commission

Blake Hastie-Etchison has been with the Albany Pine Bush Preserve Commission since the spring of 2008. She graduated from Earlham College with a BA in Biology.

Blake has worked on many important research and education projects across the country including Spotted Owl research, Palila restoration project, Mad Science, Raptor Inventory Nesting Survey, Indiana Dunes Environmental Learning Center and most recently as the Education Program Assistant for the Albany Pine

Bush Preserve Commission.

She is currently the Discovery Center Manager and leads a team of front-line interpreters in the Visitor Services team, while managing all aspects of running a functioning office space and public facility. Blake enjoys working with the public and providing opportunities for their connection with the rare ecosystem at the preserve.
