

ELIZABETH EICHFELD
CDPHP

With more than 16 years of experience in the managed health care industry, Elizabeth (Beth) Eichfeld serves the healthcare network strategy (HNS) department at CDPHP, as Vice President, Population Health Network Strategy. In this role, she is responsible for network operations, network adequacy, strategy, contract management and contracting for ancillary provider types including value based and population health contracting.

She joined the company in 2006 as a senior account executive in sales and marketing, progressed to Manager, Strategic Sourcing in 2011, joined HNS as the Director, Ancillary Contracting in 2016, and was promoted to her current position in August 2019.

Beth has extensive experience with provider and vendor partnerships, network strategy development and implementation, large scale negotiations, change implementation, and policy development. Beth earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in biology and health policy from Cornell University. Beth lives in Charlton, NY with her three children and husband.