

KELLY FRAZIER
Schenectady ARC

Since 2005, Kelly has been employed by Schenectady ARC, one of the Capital Region's largest providers of residential, vocational, day and clinical services for individuals with intellectual and other developmental disabilities. In that time, Kelly's career has steadily advanced from a Direct Support Professional in 2005 to her current position of Assistant Executive Director of Employment and Community Day Habilitation. In that capacity, she is responsible for employment supports, community-based day programs and college support programs. Many of the programs she oversees involve collaboration with a wide variety of community partners including the Autism Society of the Greater Capital Region, Union College and SUNY Schenectady County Community College which largely focus on providing supports and/or experiences to individuals with disabilities on local college campuses.

As well, Kelly is deeply involved in her community including the Ballston Center Reformed Presbyterian Church and the Burnt Hills Ballston Lake Wrestling Booster Club in the capacity of webmaster and treasurer. Additionally, you will find Kelly volunteering at her children's school or fundraising for the annual walk of the Alzheimer's Association of the Capital Region. Kelly resides in Glenville with her husband Tyler and three children Matteo, Tyler and Ben.
