Interim HealthCare of the Capital Region

Nicole joined Interim HealthCare of the Capital Region in June of 2015. Interim HealthCare has been taking care of people in the comfort of their homes in the Capital Region since 1971. They are part of the oldest franchised healthcare company in the nation, locally owned and operated. Currently Nicole serves as finance and business development specialist who oversees all aspects of accounts receivable, accounts payable management and employee payroll. She works closely with the owner on all financial matters, including NYS and Federal financial reporting. She takes on special projects to help build business awareness through social media and employee newsletters.

Nicole graduated from St. John Fisher with a bachelor's in Business Management with a concentration in Corporate Finance. She is originally from Syracuse and moved to the Capital Region back in 2009 where she settled in Schenectady. She can often be seen walking her 4-year-old black lab/boxer mix, Jasmine around the Schenectady area. When she is not taking care of her pup, she volunteers her time with LifePath (formally Senior Services of Albany) serving at their congregate meal sites. She also loves to spend time with family and friends. Most of her family resides in the Syracuse area, therefore she travels there often.
