

REBECCA DELGAIZO

Albany Public Library

Rebecca Del Gaizo is a skilled administrator with private and public sector experience in office management, human resources, board relations, and communication. She currently serves as administrative assistant at Albany Public Library, which has seven branches across the city of Albany. In her role at APL, Rebecca is involved in board administration, office and event management, purchasing, room reservations, and payroll functions.

She previously worked at the Albany Leadership Charter High School for Girls as an administrative assistant and at Lowe's Home Improvement as human resources manager. Rebecca is a natural leader whose infectious enthusiasm elevates the work environment and brings her colleagues together. She is a quick study who jumps into projects and figures out the best way to put process into practice. She adjusts her skills to whatever initiative she is coordinating to ensure an optimal outcome.

She lives in Brunswick with her husband, father, and three cats. Rebecca loves cooking, boating, motorcycling, traveling, and spending time with her family.
