

ASHLEY SHEEHAN

CSArch

Ashley Sheehan is the Senior Interior Designer at CSArch in Albany, NY. She joined the firm in 2016 and is responsible for overseeing the Interior Design Department and works closely with architects to develop spaces that enhance the lives of the users.

Ashley began her career in 2013 as a Commercial Interior Designer in Albany. She became NCIDQ Certified in 2018, a nationally recognized Interior Design Certification. During her career, she has designed spaces that include corporate offices, education and healthcare facilities, and a local theater.

In addition, Ashley is the Director-Elect for the Albany City Center International Interior Design Association (IIDA). She serves a dual role as the Advocacy Chair, working with Interior Designers in New York State to promote the important role an Interior Designer plays in creating public spaces. She previously served as the Professional Development Chair, helping other local designers progress their career.

In 2020, Ashley served as a mentor with the ACE Capital Region, an afterschool program that engages high school students interested in a career in Architecture, Construction, and Engineering. Over the course of six months, mentors worked with students to develop the skills and knowledge necessary to complete a conceptual renovation project.

Ashley holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree from Cazenovia College with a Minor in Art Management. She also studied abroad in England which provides a unique cultural and historic perspective to her design approach.
