

Learn How Law Impacts Business and How Social and Ethical Considerations are Giving Rise to New Legal Rights and Duties!

Have you wanted to learn about a subject in the University at Albany's MBA for Executives Program? Or have you wanted to sharpen your skills and update your knowledge on a business topic?

Now you can! We are offering individuals the opportunity to take select courses. One of those courses is Business Law for Managers, taught by popular long-time program instructor Paul Morgan, Jr.

In this course, the students will acquire a sophisticated knowledge of law as it may and in some cases must affect them in the performance of their professional duties. The course is presented in a lecture format with thoughtful organization that allows for the treatment of a multitude of interrelated topics.

The topics of this module include the law of agency, partnership, and corporations, advance directives including the power of attorney and a health care proxy, New York State Mental Hygiene Law Article 81 proceedings. Also included are the major principles of trust and estate law and federal and state labor law and regulations.

Upon completion of the course, students will understand business organizations, advance directives, guardianships, all major areas of employment law as it pertains to federal and New York State statutes, and federal and New York State case law.

The course is presented in an informal, relaxed, and congenial manner consistent with the respect for the student's expressed and continuing desire for knowledge. Student participation is encouraged.

The course meets in person at the Capital Region Chamber of Commerce at 5 Computer Drive South in Colonie on June 24-25, July 8-9, and July 15-16. Joining us via Zoom is also an option. The timing of the class sessions is 5:00-9:00 p.m. on Fridays and 9:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

There are two options to participate:

Option #1: $1,500 for a 3-credit course (2 1/2 or 3 weekends). Includes electronic access to course materials, choice of modality - virtual or in-person (meals included) and a certificate of completion. Non-transferable for future credit towards degree.

Option #2: $2,178 in-state graduate MBA tuition for a 3-credit course (2 1/2 or 3 weekends).
